

From Stick Figures to Masterpieces

Weekly adult art classes with
Ruth Lindsell
@ The Artisan's Hand Balfour House

My journey as an artist over the past 30 years of arts teaching and personal practice, has taken me from naïve stick figure drawings to creating works across drawing, painting, sculpture and large installations and public art commissions.

What to expect

My aim is to take each student on their own creative journey; teach them the skills, techniques, and knowledge they require to create what they want.

This journey begins with the fundamentals of drawing; regardless of subject matter, or materials used, good drawing skills are central to a fully developed artwork and how you would like to express yourself.

As an arts teacher, I had many opportunities to learn the skills and techniques and materials for creating a large variety of 2D and 3D artworks.

Along your journey with me, I will be teaching you the essentials of design and composition, using art materials that you wish to learn how to master.
